Learn About Food Waste and How You Can Prevent It

Did you know that the average Oregon family of four wastes $1800 a year in food that they could have eaten, but threw out when it went bad or became stale? Want to know how easy it is to prevent food waste and save all that money? Elaine Blatt, a Senior Policy Analyst at the Oregon Department of Environmental Quality and DEQ's lead on food issues, will talk about how much food people in Oregon waste and why, and provide information on simple steps you can take to reduce food waste in your homes. And, if you're interested in climate change, she'll show you why reducing food waste is one of the easiest and best actions you can take to reduce greenhouse gas emissions in our state and fight climate change.
