Community Updates

New Portland Voting Districts Finalized

On August 21, the Independent District Commission (IDC) unanimously adopted a District Plan. The IDC selected a revised version of the proposed Alder Map as Portland's new map defining four geographic voting districts for election of city councilors. The first election to use the new voting districts will happen in November 2024. Ultimately the commission decided the revised Alder map was the best option for Portland, as it promoted strong collaboration and community engagement for the city's future. The recent revisions to the map were based on public comments.

The Transition Team has put together a short video \(en Español\) showing how you can look up which new district you live in. There is also a video tutorial about how to view additional boundary information.

Oregon's new racial, implicit bias education intended to curb disparities in home valuations

Lawmakers hope the new requirement will address the considerable gaps between the appraised value of homes in predominately White neighborhoods compared to those comprised predominately of people of color.

Convened by Oregon Walks, Verde, Asian Pacific American Network of Oregon (APANO), and Unite Oregon, this coalition is made up of people and organizations that live, work, and play along 82nd Avenue.

Small Grants & Sponsorships Open Soon

Applications for the 2023 Small Grants & Sponsorships Program are opening on Monday, Sept. 25!

Sometimes big ideas need funding to realize their potential. The Small Grants & Sponsorship Program is an opportunity for small, emerging, and grassroots organizations to access funding for projects and programming that strengthen neighborhood livability and civic engagement.

The grants and sponsorships are designed to support community groups that have a low annual operating budget. Each grant can range from $3,000-$4,999, which can be a significant investment for community groups.

Join an Advisory Body!

Joining an advisory body is a way for Portlanders to lend their expertise and personal or professional experience to the City of Portland. As an advisory body member, you will work closely with community members and City of Portland liaisons to impact policies and programs.
